How often do you fall short when trying to clearly, convincingly, and confidently get your message across "in the moment" - such as when are in a meeting with a client, on the phone with a colleague, at your desk, during a chance encounter, or in any other situation where you want and need to be at your most articulate? This session will teach you a set of little known - but profoundly effective - tools and tips to ensure that you always express yourself with clarity and composure; even when the last thing you were expecting was to be under the spotlight. Get ready to become more organized, compelling, and confident when you communicate off the cuff - the first time, and every time!

Objectives:

- Appreciate the importance of readiness and polish in daily interactions, conversations, and routine meetings for legal professional
- Learn a strategy for responding concisely and confidently to questions in meetings, phone calls, and conversations
- Gain experience and confidence speaking off the cuff
